Wadi Rum (Valley of the Moon)

Gargantuan rock formations, rippled sand dunes, and clear night skies create an almost fairy-tale setting across an unpopulated area the size of New York City. This is truly the "reddest" part of Jordan, colored by iron oxide, and by far the most dramatic in terms of landscape.

Ajloun forest

Ajloun forest was first proposed as a protected area in the 1978 survey. Its ecological importance is represented by the Evergreen Oak vegetation type, which is typical of the northern highlands of Jordan. As part of the Mediterranean bio-geographical region of the country, it is dominated by open woodlands that account for a significant part of Jordan's forested area, which does not exceed 1% of the country's entire land area.
